

I would appreciate protecting the do not call act. Family is very important and for working parents this is the time to have quality time with the family. We do not need marketing office calling houses trying to sell. Also they do not respect what time they call. I would be sleep or my children could be sleep and they would call to wake them or me up. Since the do not call law. My family has appreciated very much having dinner with out the phone ringing and Sleeping with out the phone ringing to wake up my children is a dream come true.

I like the Fcc to know that what the marketing service is is distrub the home life of working parents.
